SITE DESCRIPTION:

See Division I map. Point San Luis Breakwater (rip rap), Whaler's Island, and Smith Island (wave-cut platforms), provide habitat for large numbers of brown pelicans. This is also of economic importance with the small harbor that contains approximately 300 moorings. The offshore rocks are part of the Coastal National Monument under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management. The Port San Luis breakwater is managed by the Port San Luis Harbor District.

SEASONAL and SPECIAL RESOURCE CONCERN

Pelicans present in large numbers summer-fall, with peak numbers September -October. Old Port live fish water intake, flow is not adjustable, depth of intake is unknown; spill responders could install pumps and hoses to increase depth of intake. Other live fish markets with water intakes on Hartford Pier. Throughout Division I, black abalone (endangered) may be present in rocky intertidal habitat (designated critical habitat).

RESOURCES OF PRIMARY CONCERN

High concentrations of brown pelicans, seagulls, and cormorants, sea lions. Sea otters offshore.

CONCERNS and ADVICE to RESPONDERS:

Oil can penetrate rip rap.

Old Port live fish water intake, flow is not adjustable, depth of intake is unknown; spill responders could install pumps and hoses to increase depth of intake. Other live fish markets with water intakes on Hartford Pier.

Throughout Division I, black abalone (endangered) may be present in rocky intertidal habitat (designated critical habitat).

HAZARDS and RESTRICTIONS:

SITE STRATEGIES

Strategy 4-335.1 Objective: Defect or exclude oil from the offshore rocks and breakwater.

This is a high energy area which includes Point San Luis breakwater, Whalers Island and Smith Island. Offshore containment and recovery (OCR) is the preferred option although heavy surf may hinder these operations. No specific response equipment listed due to the many variables associated with each spill regarding OCR. Early consideration should be given to the use of applied response technologies.

If conditions are calm enough consider lining rip rap with boom.
